Haunt Couture is an annual event that fuses fashion, design and architecture presented by IIDA Southern California. It is a spectacular evening of cocktails, networking, and a runway show with leading Los Angeles interior design architecture firms and student teams competing in a stunning couture runway show. Since the event takes place around Halloween, the designed garments are larger than life costumes created from design materials typically specified in contract interiors expressing the "theme" of the event. The expected audience for the evening is 700+ members of the greater Los Angeles Design community. At the Big Reveal Party, the competing design teams will learn about the event and the subject of their individual costumes. The designers will mingle with sponsors and the committee members as we all kick off the excitement!
